PARLIAMENT OPENS IN POMP

King's Speech Expresses Concern Over Irish Unemployment and Expects Party Trade Pending Action on Irish Bill.

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, Nov. 23.—With Westminster surrounded by a heavy cordon of police to prevent demonstrations by the unemployed, King George opened the deliberative session of parliament today with a speech in which he expressed "deep concern" over problems facing the country.

Drab, wet November weather did not dampen huge crowds which lined the streets all the way from Buckingham Palace to Westminster. A battery of guns, parked in Hyde Park, boomed out a salute, and rolling cheers marked the line of the royal procession.

King George was accompanied by Queen Mary.

The king began by saying that parliament had been summoned to enact legislation which is necessary to give effect to the Irish Free State constitution. He added that the questions of unemployment and state expense "continued to give him deep concern."

The state opening of parliament was conducted with all the pomp and pageantry of olden days.

This was the fifth parliament to be held in the reign of King George.

It is the smallest parliament—owing to the absence of any representatives from the Irish Free State—in 12 years. Leaders of the various political groups agreed not to make any attack against the British Law government until after the Irish bill is out of the way. This measure will occupy about a fortnight.

P. T. A. SCHOOL, 6, IS PROGRESSING

Full Meetings Show Healthy Activity.

The monthly meeting of the P. T. A. held at No. 6 School Tuesday afternoon was well attended. Through the efforts of Mrs. Charles Clinton and her committee on membership, the full meetings have greatly increased in attendance. The parents who hitherto were unable to attend on account of small children at home brought them to the meeting and provision was made for their amusement while parents were present.

The attendance banners were won by Mrs. Hewitt's room for primary grades and Miss Edson's for the grammar grades.

The meeting was opened by a chorus by primary children from Room 3.

A demonstration by Miss Hewitt and her pupils of the teaching of "subtraction" in its progressive stages to the second grade children, showed how readily the children grasped the method. They worked examples in subtraction on the blackboard.

After the reports of the various committees were read and accepted and other routine business transacted reports were given by Mrs. H. Pedrick and Miss J. Riebel, who were delegates to the Congress of Mothers held at Albany, October 23-25.

An interesting extract on the subject of "Nutrition" by Miss McCormick stated that 22,000 school children of this state were undernourished and in order to overcome this condition the various clubs and organizations connected with the schools together with aid of boards of education had furnished 52 cities and 47 villages with scales for weighing children. Forty-four cities and 45 villages were serving milk during school session to the undernourished child. By this and other similar aids the percentage in Ashburn has been reduced from 23 per cent to 11 per cent. This conservation of health established now among the school children will be shown during the next generation.

This line of work acknowledged and carried out by various schools of our city has thus far proved very satisfactory.

Arrangements were made to provide Christmas trees for both floors and a box of Christmas candy to each child.

68 DEGREES IS PROPER HOUSE HEAT SAYS EXPERT

Dr. Copeland Appeals Against Overheating.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner of New York city and senator-elect to the United States senate from New York state, has issued an appeal to the people of the state to control the increasing tendency to overheating in the home. During the present fuel emergency, when fuel Administrator Woodin is asking householders to conserve and burn substitutes for anthracite, Dr. Copeland points out that overheating lowers bodily resistance to disease and emphasizes that there is now an added reason for preventing it. He sets the best temperature for the living rooms of the home at 68 degrees.

STATION MEN ASK MORE PAY

Railway Clerks, Freight Handlers and Other Workers Say Average Monthly Wage is $85.00, Out by Board Decision from $100.02 in 1920.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Chicago, Nov. 23.—Railway clerks, freight handlers and station employees—271,000 in number, today applied for an increase in wages. Application for the wage increase was made before the United States Railway Labor Board this morning by E. H. Fitzgerald, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees.

"It is becoming continually more difficult for the railway employees to maintain what has been recognized as a comfortable standard of living," Mr. Fitzgerald declared.

Fitzgerald based the claim for wage increases principally on the contention that there has been a material reduction in the purchasing power of railway wages during the past four years and that "a considerable increase" must be made to restore the former living standard of the employees.

The present average monthly wages of clerical and station forces are $85.80, as against $109.02 under the labor board decision of 1920, according to Fitzgerald.

Brotherhood officials pointed out that the Labor Board since the 1920 ruling has rendered two other decisions which effected material reductions in the men's pay.

The present application is the third made to the Labor Board since the end of the shopmen's strike. The maintenance of way men were the first to petition for an increase and they were awarded two cents per hour. The application of the railway signalmen is pending.

WILSON ADDRESSES ROTARY CLUB

Man Collecting Data to Be Used as Basis for City's Stimulation Points Out How Others Have Done It.

Samuel Wilson, in charge of the survey of Kingston's assets and opportunities, was the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon on Wednesday.

"The line of least sales resistance for that which Kingston has to offer," is the thing that the survey will disclose, according to Mr. Wilson, who said that without growth in population and purchasing power it was next to impossible for any city to offer much more than a bare living to its business men. Industrial development is not the only means of growth. Los Angeles has sold its climate and power by convincing people that it is a good place to come and spend the money they have saved. San Antonio has increased its population 70 per cent in 10 years by developing as a wholesale center. Rochester, Minnesota, is growing because it has surgeons of extraordinary ability.

Nor are natural advantages alone the cause of growth. Cleveland has no such harbor as has Sandusky, Chicago is not so well located as is Michigan City. Rome is near copper deposit and brings its copper from Chili. Neither is nearness to market the controlling factor. All of the refrigerators are made in the northern states.

Men and the will of men, skill of hands and head, education predicated on facts can make a city grow and it all are in possession of the same facts and arrive at the same conclusions there will be unity of action that will give results.

Aside from Mr. Wilson's address, great interest was taken in trying out a new arrangement by the pianist, Harry Mahlenheider, of the music of "The God Darned Spider."

TURKEYS TO BE ABOUT 30 CENTS PER POUND

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Nov. 23.—Market officials in this state and New Jersey agree that the general supply of turkeys in the country this year is about 25 per cent greater than this period last year, and likewise they agree that the retail price in markets in this section will depend altogether upon the receipts between now and Thanksgiving and the demand from the consumers. Edwin J. O'Malley, Commissioner of Public Markets, said the price will not be established on the New York market until Monday, but hazarded the guess that the wholesale price of dressed turkeys will not be more than 40 cents a pound and the retail not more than 50 cents a pound.

SIX ROBBERS GET $4,000 AND WRECK BANK

By Telegram to The Freeman. Gallatin, Mo., Nov. 23.—Three men are seriously wounded, the First National Bank here is wrecked, telephone and telegraph wires are all out and $4,000 is missing from the bank safe here as the result of activities early today of six bank robbers.

The bandits were discovered at work by John Chamberlain, town marshal at four o'clock, while robbing the safe. Binding him, the bandits set off two powerful explosions of nitro glycerine, wrecking the bank.

DOLOMITE MINE DEAD NUMBER 82

Sixty Others, Badly Hurt, in Hospitals—All Dead and Living Out of Mine—Electric Spark Ignited Dust.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 23.—The death list in the Dolomite mine disaster mounted to eighty-two today, according to latest figures available at the scene of the explosion, thirteen miles from Birmingham.

One third of those killed were negroes. They were employed in Dolomite mine No. 3, of the Woodward Coal Company.

Sixty others are in hospitals, some of them so badly burned or injured by flying debris that they may not recover.

All of the bodies have been recovered and all those not killed by the blast have been freed from the underground prison. It was stated early today by officials of the company.

It has been definitely established that the explosion was caused when a "skipl" car, breaking away, dashed down the mine slope and crashing through electric cables, caused an electric spark which ignited the dust in the mine.

Instantly the entire mine was enveloped in a sheet of flames that blazed upward through the shaft, at least 300 feet high into the air, and ignited the tipples. All men working near the mouth of the mine, it was said, were killed outright.

FEDERATED P. T. A. HELD INTERESTING MEETING

The November meeting of the Federated Parent-Teacher Association was held Wednesday afternoon at the high school. Six schools were represented. After the regular business was disposed of a report on the Lillotte recital was given and proved most successful in every respect. The receipts will be divided amongst the Parent-Teacher Associations of the different schools. It was decided to omit the December meeting as it was too near Christmas. Members expressed the desire to assist the Federation of Women's Clubs in every way possible in the commendable work which they are undertaking for the young women of our city. Several other matters were discussed to a considerable extent, but not definitely disposed of. After a rather long but interesting session the meeting adjourned.

CHILDERS LOSES IN HABEAS CORPUS FIGHT

By Telegram to The Freeman. Dublin, Nov. 23.—Erskine Childers, chief aide of Eamon de Valera in the Irish Republican cause, today lost his legal fight against the validity of the Free State court martial which had tried and condemned him.

Habeas corpus proceedings had been instituted in Childers' behalf before Master of the Rolls O'Connor in the chancery court.

Although the exact nature of the sentence imposed upon Childers was not known, it was generally believed that he had been sentenced to death, pending affirmation of the verdict by the Free State cabinet.

CLEMENCEAU LIKES SENATE TEMPEST

Caused by His Speech—Leaves for Boston—Defends League and Wants U. S. In.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Nov. 23.—Georges Clemenceau left New York today for Boston, intensely tickled by the triumph of wrath his Tuesday speech has stirred up in the senate.

The "Tiger" lustily scanned the newspapers in Grand Central Terminal while being hustled aboard his car. The angry retort of Senator Borah particularly pleased him.

"I like that," said the former French premier. "That arouses discussion. That will make people think. I like a discussion. That is a democratic quality I learned years ago."

The Frenchman indicated that he might have something more to say concerning the League of Nations and America's attitude toward Europe in speeches in Boston and Chicago. To the last, he defended the league, saying it was no menace and contending that America's absence hurt the league and the people of the world.

TOO BIG A CROWD AT THIS TURKEY DINNER

Wonderly Employees At Annual St. James's Affair.

The annual turkey dinner served by the women of St. James's M. E. Church Wednesday evening was so largely attended that during the latter part of the evening the supply of turkey and other edibles was exhausted and late-comers found it impossible to be served.

A very pleasant feature of the dinner was a special dinner given by The Wonderly Company for employees and guests. After the dinner the Rev. Dr. Baragwanath was requested to tell the employees and guests what he knew of business and he responded in a very humorous vein.

Mr. Wonderly then called on different employees to express themselves as to what they had to offer in the way of suggestion for the better management of the company, and discussion was general. At the close of the dinner a vote of thanks was tendered to the company.

Monday and Atharhacton Clubs.

On Wednesday afternoon the Monday and Atharhacton Clubs met at the home of Mrs. Newton Fessenden on Fair street to listen to Dr. Washburn's fourth lecture on psychology. Continuing the subject of "Attention," Dr. Washburn spoke of the insistence upon attention of stimuli weak in power but important in nature, and then summed up the various phases of "Attention," which is the highest form of delayed reaction. The next topic considered was learning and the speaker made very plain, with the use of diagrams, the two kinds of learning, "The short cut" kind and the "Habit forming kind."

Next Wednesday afternoon the lecture will be given at the home of Mrs. John Forsyth on Albany avenue.

MAN WOUNDED BY FEROCIOUS HOG

While Sherman Moore of Glenford was driving a large boar hog from one pen to another this morning, the boar turned upon him ferociously. Moore had a stick in one hand and attempted to keep the boar away from him, but he was knocked down and attacked and had his left leg badly torn from below the hip to near the knee. Moore was attended by Dr. H. P. Van Wagenen of John street, this city, who sowed up the wound, taking several stitches and attended to the lacerations.

A man who was with Moore when the boar attacked him got a club and managed to beat the wild porker off of Moore, who would have been killed but for his presence and assistance.

FORD SPENDS $20,000,000 FOR COAL FIELDS IN KENTUCKY

Buys 195,000 Acres Rich in Bituminous Coal, Part of the Field in Operation, and Expects to Sell Product Direct to the Public in the Great Lakes Region.

(Copyright 1922 By International News Service.)

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Nov. 23.—Henry Ford today closed negotiations for the purchase of approximately $20,000,000 worth of coal fields in Kentucky in order to start in the business of selling coal direct to the public—the first step in his promised fight to free the people of the lake region from the clutches of the "coal profiteers."

The transaction completed here by Chief Engineer William B. Mayo, according to reports, turns over to Ford 195,000 acres of territory rich in bituminous coal. A large part of the field is already under operation.

It puts the automobile manufacturer in a particularly advantageous position and gives him control of about one-fifth of the soft coal produced in the United States.

JUDGE CUNNINGHAM TURNED JOKE TO GOOD USE

Government Defeated in Gregory Action Charging Use of Mails to Defraud—Retained in Writ Contest Involving $10,000,000.

Former Judge William D. Cunningham has been engaged for seven weeks past in the trial of the case of the United States vs. Gregory and others, which culminated Friday evening in the most satisfactory result he has ever achieved in court.

Dwight Gregory & Co., Inc. until the spring of 1921, were engaged in the brokerage business at No. 73 Wall street, New York city. The firm comprised three Gregory brothers who came to New York some years ago from Atlanta, Ga. They had built up an exceedingly large promotion and stock-selling business throughout the United States, employing hundreds of salesmen and maintaining seventeen branch offices throughout the country. In the spring of 1921 they were put out of business by the United States Post Office Department and were indicted on several charges of using the mails to defraud in the sale of approximately one million dollars' stock of the American Tire Company. With them were indicted their salesmen, managers and representatives, the total number of defendants being sixty-four. The case went to trial on October 3rd, and ended Friday evening. Judge Cunningham conducted the case for the defendants and was successful in acquitting all of them. The case attracted widespread attention among brokers and in Wall Street. During his summing up of the case, the court room became so crowded with persons standing that the doors were closed. It is many years since the government has been defeated in a case of this kind in New York city. Judge Foster of New Orleans presided.

Judge Cunningham also has been retained and is appearing for a member of the family in the estate of Angie M. Booth, whose husband was the owner of the Ward steamship line. The case involves a will contest in which a number of the best known lawyers of New York appear. The estate amounts to ten million dollars.

Telephone Company Made Movie "Roast" a Feature of Demonstration Showing the Work Done in a Telephone Exchange.

When a Harold Lloyd comedy film depicting everything wrong that can happen in a telephone central station was released some time ago the telephone people were greatly puffed. They felt that they were being misrepresented and abused and that this would get them in wrong with the public. Then some telephone man big enough to take a joke saw a way to get people to laugh with him and not at him, and the telephone company adopted the picture as part of an educational campaign to show the public how to use the telephone. They put on the comedy to show how things ought not to be done and are not done, and then give a demonstration with a real switchboard of the way things are done, showing the mistakes and carelessness of the users of the telephone that central has to contend with. To this they added an industrial film showing how telephones are made and in between they put a concert, vocal and instrumental, by employees of the company. And it is all free.

Telephone users of Kingston who have puzzled over the inside workings of a central office will be able to learn the "why" of these things by means of this entertainment, which is to be given at 8 o'clock in the High School Auditorium on Friday evening, November 24, by telephone employees. A. L. Harder, local commercial manager of the New York Telephone Company, will be in charge of the program.

The demonstration will include vocal and instrumental numbers, the Harold Lloyd motion picture comedy and a special feature picture of the telephone industry. Perhaps the most interesting portion of the program is a demonstration of the actual workings of a telephone central office, which will be conducted on a replica of an exchange switchboard. Real telephone operators will explain their duties in handling a telephone call and by an ingenious arrangement, the entire path of the call through the apparatus will be in full view of the spectators. At the conclusion of the program, the telephone people will answer any questions concerning switchboard operation and maintenance.

The public generally is invited and there is no admission charge.

JOSEPH CROTTY FOUND GUILTY

Jury Recommends Clemency For Veteran House Seller—His Sentence Monday—Glen Robinson Is Fined $200 and Polopoli $100.

Whether Joseph Crotty or his brother, William, or their mother, Mrs. Mary E. Crotty, carried on a quiet little whiskey and home-brew business at the Crotty Hotel at Veterans, known as the Veteran Hotel, was the question which occupied the time of Judge Joseph M. Fowler and a jury in county court all of Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

Joseph Crotty is the only one of the family who was indicted for illegal possession of liquor and wine for beverage purposes, and he declared that he knew there was such a business. So did his mother. Brother William did not take the witness stand.

According to testimony given by State Trooper Charles A. Roche, he and two other men were served with whiskey in the bar room of the Veteran Hotel on July 22, 1921, by Joseph Crotty. Crotty denied being there at the time or having served any whiskey or home brew or anything else, in which he was corroborated by Arthur William Burhans and Arthur Sperl, both of Saugerties, who accompanied Trooper Roche to the hotel on that day, both of whom said it was William Crotty who served the drinks. Burhans said that all three of the party drank whiskey, but Sperl said he had home brew.

The case was opened for The People Tuesday afternoon and The People rested before court adjourned, so that the morning session was taken up by the defense. District Attorney Traver and Assistant District Attorney Murray appeared for The People; Crotty was represented by ex-Mayor William D. Brinnier.

On July, 1921, according to Roche, he visited the hotel with two other men and they were served with whiskey. On information furnished by him, a search and seizure warrant was issued and the search and seizure proceedings were conducted by Troopers Roche, John A. Hopkins and John R. McCormick on July 26, four days later.

When the troopers visited the hotel together, William Crotty—the same Brother William on whom responsibility for the sale has been placed by Brother Joseph and Mrs. Crotty—seized two bottles containing some dark colored liquid and before he could be stopped, reached the stone goosie step and let the bottles drop on the stone. The bottles were broken and the contents ran so swiftly into the crockery and surrounding and that nothing was left to determine what they were—at least, by chemical analysis.

Behind a quantity of rubbish in an upper room of the hotel, the troopers found two bottles containing what was described by Chemist Arthur S. Kapowich as 98 proof whiskey of good quality. The label on the bottles indicated that it was "Old Charter" whiskey. There were also two bottles containing wine of some kind which on chemical analysis proved to be 45 proof.

When the defense was taken up, Mr. Brinnier asked that Trooper Roche be recalled, to which District Attorney Traver objected on the ground that the case of The People had been closed, whereupon Mr. Brinnier called Trooper Roche as his own witness. Roche identified Arthur William Burhans as one of the men who went with him to the Crotty Hotel from Saugerties, but could not identify Arthur Sperl as the other member of the party.

Burhans testified that he remembered a day in 1921—he could not fix the time of the year more definitely—when Roche asked him where he could get a taxicab to take a trip, and witness recommended Sperl, who was engaged in the taxicab business at Saugerties. After engaging Sperl, Roche asked witness to accompany him, and they drove to the Veteran Hotel, where they had two rounds of whiskey for which Roche paid fifty cents a drink. The drinks were served by William Crotty, and witness did not see Joseph Crotty, the defendant, anywhere around the place.

Cross-examined by Mr. Traver, Burhans said he had known the Crotty boys several years and frequently visited the hotel because, as he explained, "if anyone has friends, he goes to see them." He went there about once a week, usually on Sundays. Once in a while he went there to get a drink—of cider, he explained, but added, "not always of cider." He had been served by both of the Crotty boys, but on the day he went there with Trooper Roche the party was served by William Crotty, and he did not see Joseph around the place.

Arthur Sperl, 30 years old, who is engaged in the taxicab business at Saugerties, testified he knew the Crotty boys and also knows Trooper Roche. In company with Burhans and Trooper Roche he went to the Crotty Hotel on one occasion and remembered that they were served with drinks by William Crotty, but he did not see Joseph Crotty around the hotel. Witness said he drank home brew and the others drank whiskey; he did not know how much was paid for the drinks.

Cross-examined, Sperl said he did not visit the Veteran Hotel very often, except to take passengers there or call for them. During the summer there are many boarders there. Within the last year he had been in the barroom several times, but always was served with drinks by William Crotty, and never by Joseph.

Mrs. Mary E. Crotty said she had conducted the hotel and boarding house since the death of her husband ten years ago, and during the summer conducts a boarding house, accommodating forty guests. Joseph, her son, has no connection with the boarding house business in the way of ownership, but is in the taxicab and garage business for himself.

The bar room remained in the hotel, she said on cross-examination, because it had been built there originally, and now is used as a waiting room and office by boarders. Soft drinks and cigars are sold there, but if any whiskey or home brew was also going on there, she had nothing to do with it. When the troopers came to search the hotel, they had guns and she had begged them not to shoot William.

Joseph Crotty, the defendant, testified he had been engaged in the taxicab business since he was old enough to get a license, and for a year and a half had conducted a garage, first in an old blacksmith shop and since January of this year in a new garage building. He did not remember the occurrence testified to by Trooper Roche because he was not there. He never had served either Roche, Burhans or Sperl with drinks when they were together, and never served whiskey to anyone.

Thomas J. Tighe had been a boarder at the hotel and had claimed ownership of a bottle labeled "Old Charter" whiskey partly filled with something that looked like whiskey, which was one of the four bottles seized by the State Troopers. Witness had tried to get it from Tighe at the Saugerties court room when proceedings had been had there. He did not know where Tighe was; he had been sick and perhaps he was now dead.

Joseph said he often went behind the bar to get drinks of soft stuff for himself, and he always paid for them. If the liquor business was conducted there, it was conducted either by his mother or brother, William. At different times he knew there had been whiskey and home brew there, but it never was sold in his presence. When he had come in the hotel while the search and seizure was being made by the troopers, he had noticed broken glass on the stone step.

With this testimony the defense rested. The case was presented to the jury Wednesday afternoon by District Attorney Traver for The People and by Mr. Brinnier for the defendant.

Judge Fowler charged the jury and at 3:30 the jury retired to deliberate. The jury came into court at 10 o'clock, Wednesday night, and gave a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation for clemency. County Judge Fowler stated that sentence would be pronounced next Monday, afternoon, and then discharged the jurors from further attendance at the term.

After the Crotty case had gone to the jury Wednesday afternoon, Glen Robinson of the town of Saugerties was arraigned for sentence, having pleaded guilty of maintaining a place for gambling. He had been before the court previously and the court then was lenient with him. Judge Fowler imposed a fine of $200 and added a sentence of four months in jail, but the latter was suspended pending good behavior. Robinson to report each month to the sheriff. He was told if he came before the court again the maximum sentence would be given him. He paid the $200 fine through William D. Brinnier his counsel.

James Polopoli aged 44, an Italian, charged with assault in the second degree committed in the town of Marlborough, changed his plea of not guilty to that charge to guilty of assault in the third degree. Polopoli got in dispute with a neighbor over a line fence and got a shot gun which however he did not shoot off. His arrest followed. Polopoli was fined $100 which he paid through his counsel, William D. Brinnier.

Court then took a recess to await the determination by the jury in the Crotty case, which rendered a verdict of guilty as stated above.

SUMMING UP
IN CROTTY CASE

Defence's Effort To Make Joseph's Brother "The Goat" Remains Triumphant Attorney of A Little Poem.

In summing up the Joseph Crotty liquor case to the jury in county court Wednesday Mr. Brinler, Crotty's counsel, dwelt on the fact that the hotel was conducted by Mrs. Crotty, who had said that her son, Joseph, the one under indictment, was not interested in the business and was engaged in other business of his own.

The testimony, with the exception of that of only one witness was to the effect that it was not Joseph Crotty who served the whisky, but that it was his brother, William Crotty, and he reminded the jury that it was Joseph and not William who was on trial.

Mr. Brinler also reminded the jury that the amount of liquor which had been seized was so small—part of it being claimed by one of the boarders who had been sick—it was evident that whatever liquor there was was not part of stock intended for sale as part of any liquor business which was prohibited by the law.

Putting It On "Little Willie."

District Attorney Traver, in presenting to the jury the case of The People, called attention to the fact that while Joseph Crotty was the one under indictment, the defense had introduced testimony which related almost entirely to his brother, William.

During the early part of the trial there had been much talk about the business being conducted by Mrs. Crotty, whom the officers had not seen until they began searching the house, and evidently the first attempt had been to hide behind the skirts of the mother.

Then, said Mr. Traver, the next step was to shield Brother Joe at the expense of Brother William, by the testimony of the witnesses Burhans and Spier. But in what kind of a position did this leave Brother William? If the jury acquitted Brother Joseph, it would clearly become his duty, under the testimony, to prosecute Brother William. While Brother Joseph had been allowed to tell his story on the witness stand, Brother William had not been allowed to give his version of the affair, which certainly was awkward for William.

The attempt to make a goat out of William Crotty, said Mr. Traver, reminded him of a little poem which doubtless everyone had heard in childhood and which he considered quite apropos. The poem, which he recited to the jury, was:

Little Willie from the mirror
Licked the mercury all off.
Thinking in his childish error
It would cure his whooping cough.

At the funeral, Willie's mother,
Sadly said to Mrs. Brown:
'Twas a chilly day for Willie.
When the mercury went down."

The jury, as well as the court and spectators, seemed to enjoy the poem and the laugh which followed its recital was so spontaneous and hearty that even the Crotty family joined in.

The jury, after being charged by Judge Fowler, retired at four o'clock, and at ten o'clock in the evening brought in a verdict of guilty with a recommendation of leniency. Sentence will be pronounced Monday.

STUCK HIS HEAD OUT TO SIGNAL; FELL OFF TRUCK

Adey Boice of Franklin Street sustained head lacerations.

Adey Boice, a helper on one of Glidersleeve's big auto trucks, sustained a bad gash in the head Wednesday afternoon as the truck was turning off Broadway into East Chester street. Mr. Boice, as the truck was about to make the turn, leaned out to one side extending his hand as a signal to traffic that the truck was about to enter the intersecting street. He lost his balance and fell from the truck striking his head on the pavement. He was taken to the office of Dr. John P. Larkin, nearby, where the wound was sewed up, and later taken to his home, No. 74 Franklin street.

When Your Hackaw Breaks.

If the blade in the hackaw breaks two or three inches from the frame, it can still be utilized. Hold the blade in the flame of a blow torch, or otherwise heat it, and while still warm drill a hole through it; this can be done with a hand drill. The blade can then be replaced in the adjustable saw frame, and it will be ready for use.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Members of St. Peter's Holy Name will assemble Friday evening, at 8 o'clock at the home of their late brother, Michael Dippold at 44 Broadway. A prayer service will be held.

The funeral of Mr. Whitaker, who died Saturday morning last, was held from the home of G. Benjamin at Brookhills on Monday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. McLaren preached the sermon and the Rev. Mr. Meeker read the scripture and offered prayer.

The two men, brothers killed Wednesday, as stated in The Freeman, are Nelson and Lawrence Van Dyke of Prattville. They were employed by the New York water board working on a swing scaffold inside an intake shaft when the platform support broke and they were plunged to death at the bottom of the shaft, a fall of about 200 feet. The bodies were recovered and an inquest held.

Word was received by telegraph Wednesday that Marcellus Low of this city had died at Franklin, Pa. He was a son of William P. Low of 43 Clinton avenue, and a brother of Lewis Low, also a traveling salesman. The remains will be brought to this city, where the funeral and interment will be held.

Doan was a traveling salesman for Sprague & Halsey, manufacturers of photographers' supplies, and had many friends in Kingston among whom he was very popular. For a number of years he was a photographer employed by the late T. D. Lewis, who had a photograph gallery at Wall and John streets, in the building now occupied by the Spencer Business School. He was a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 19, F. & A. M., which he joined in 1905; also a member of Wiltwyck Hose Company, in which organization he took a great interest during the days of the volunteer fire department.

Frank N. Murphy, a plumber and steam heating contractor in Saugerties, died suddenly of heart disease Wednesday afternoon while in the yard of the home of his sisters at 771 Broadway. With an employee, Charles Bridgeman, he had come to this city on business and later made a visit to his sisters, the Misses Sabina F., Margaret and Mary Murphy. After lunch he went to the yard to look over the premises and while there Mr. Bridgeman noticed him stagger and sink to the ground. John Garharino, a neighbor, was called by Mr. Bridgeman who knew that his employer had been troubled with heart weakness, and the two men carried Mr. Murphy into the house and whatever possible was done to aid him. Dr. H. P. Van Wagenen, who had been summoned, arrived quickly, but Mr. Murphy was beyond help, and the doctor pronounced that death had been caused by heart trouble. Coroner W. N. Conner was notified and the remains were given in charge of Leo V. Grogan.

Mrs. Murphy, who before marriage was Gettrude Scheffle of this city, was notified of her husband's sudden death at this city. Mr. Murphy was a former Kingston young man, the family residing for years on Washington avenue near the Esopus creek bridge. About twenty years ago he went to Saugerties where he went into business which had prospered, and he made many friends by his careful attention to business and by his affability having the respect of the entire community in which he had made his home for the past decade. Besides his wife and three sisters he is survived by a daughter Mrs. Fred Stock of Columbia county. Funeral service from the home of his sisters, 771 Broadway, Friday morning, November 24, at 9 o'clock, thence to St. Joseph's church where at 9:30 a high Mass of requiem will be celebrated for the repose of his soul. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

DISEASE INJURES RASPBERRY

Attacks Canes of Plant Primarily, but May Also Spread to Leaves—Caused by Fungus.

Anthrachnose is one of the most serious diseases attacking raspberries. It also affects blackberries, but the injury it does to these plants is not nearly so severe. While the disease injures the canes of the plants primarily, it may also attack the leaves, the leaf-stems, the fruits and the fruit stems. The diseased parts of the plants may be killed outright, or, if they are not killed, the fruit may be prevented from forming, or if it does form, it may be rendered unfit for consumption.

Anthrachnose is caused by a fungus which lives for the most part as a mycelium or root-like body inside of the host. Here it feeds at the expense of the plant tissue, with the consequence that this part of the plant dies. The disease makes its appearance on the lower parts of the canes, but as these become older, they increase in size and their centers become grayish white. As time goes on, neighboring spots may enlarge until they coalesce. Should such areas encircle a cane, girdling results. Frequently, badly diseased stems become rough, scabby, and even cracked. Such canes cannot function normally and they either die or continue to survive in a weakened condition. If they produce fruit, the berries ripen prematurely and they are small and dry. The leaves, leaf stems and fruit stems are also affected by this fungus, the disease making its appearance here in the form of the characteristic spots described above.

The life cycle of the organism causing anthrachnose is not yet completely known, but it is generally agreed that the winter is passed in the disease canes and that the disease is spread by means of spores.

Cluster of Autumn Fruiting Raspberry.

WAY TO GROW FANCY GRAPES

Paper Bags Afford Protection Against Birds, Insects and Even Fungous Diseases.

A good way to grow extra fancy grapes for home use or for exhibition purposes is to tie up the bunches in paper bags. The bags protect the fruit from the elements during the summer, making it free from weather marks and presenting a fresh, bright appearance. Moreover, the bags afford protection against the depredations of birds, insects and even fungous diseases, according to the Nebraska Agricultural college.

Because of the warmth afforded by the bags the bagged grapes ripen a little earlier and are better flavored than the unbagged grapes. Bagged grapes do not seem to become over-ripe as quickly as do the unbagged grapes. This is an advantage in that the season during which fresh grapes may be used is prolonged about ten days. The late varieties, like the Concord, may be allowed to remain on the vines until after the first light frosts.

For bagging grapes the one and one-half and two-pound manila bags used by grocers are very satisfactory.

RENEW STRAWBERRY PATCH

Bar Off Old Row So as to Plow Out Plants—Cultivate During Entire Summer.

At the end of the fruiting season of the strawberry patch it should be renewed for the following year. Renewal will consist of barring off the old row so as to plow out the old plants, thus leaving the new plants beside the old row in a new soil. Keep the strawberry patch cultivated during the entire summer.

The Best Spray.

The best spray for aphids of all kinds is nicotine sulphate. A common form on the market is known as "Black Leaf 40." This always should be used with soap or a soap oil emulsion.

Trees Require Trimming.

Fruit trees and shade trees require about the same care in trimming and the finer limbs and water sprouts from the inside should be removed. This opens up the inside of the tree, thus giving free access of sun and air.

Good Thing to Remember.

Let us not overlook the fact that health conservation does not end with health conservation.

THE KEY

"The Fairies," said Daddy, "were busy doing up packages for the Fairy Wondrous Secrets and the Dreamland King. He was sitting on his favorite cloud waiting for these packages."

"His friend, the Sandman, had already been around and his other friend, Prince Sleep, had followed shortly after."

"The fairies were hurrying as fast as they could, but they had so many packages they wanted to give this evening to the Dreamland King."

"At last they were all ready. Every package was done up most beautifully and the Dreamland King had a great big load."

"All pleasant dreams, so they won't be too hard to carry," he said as he started off.

"That's the way they are," the fairies answered.

"And the Fairy Wondrous Secrets added:

"There are some fine dreams in these packages."

"Just then there came a great noise and then a huge door opened."

"It opened right out from the Secret Room of the fairies to the Dreamland King's favorite cloud."

"There is a passageway which runs between this room and the cloud, and the huge door is at the end of the passageway."

"Like an Enormous Key."

"Well, well, well," said a voice. "I had a great time hurrying to get here. I want to go around tonight, too."

"I rushed from my special home to the room where the fairies do up their packages for the Dreamland King, and I found them all gone."

"Dear me, I was afraid I was too late. Yes, I want to go around, too. I've been treated so much better of late."

"Do come around," said the Dreamland King.

"Oh yes," said the Fairy Wondrous Secrets, "you surely must go. Where have you been all this time?"

"We've not seen you for ages."

"Not for ages," agreed all the fairies.

"Not for ages," said the Dreamland King.

"Of course, my name is Key. My middle name is To—spelled in just that simple way. And my third name is Happiness."

"As you can see, fairies and Wondrous Secrets and Dreamland King, I look something like an enormous key and something like a brownie, and something like a gnome, and something like an elf."

"But I dress in such a way so as to look like a key. This is my favorite costume."

"And indeed he did look like a key—very much like a big alive key."

"You wonder why you have not seen me in a long time," Key continued.

"I will explain to you. As you know and as I've said, my whole name is Key To Happiness. And I live up to my name."

"I'm really the key to happiness, for I explain what makes happiness. I cannot do it alone. People have to have understanding, you know."

"I explain, though, that so many simple things make happiness. I tell of my friends Kind Words, Judge Just Praise, Miss Hate-Gossip-So. She has a strange name. She will not change it though, because she says her name explains her feelings. She does hate gossip so. That is the truth. She won't listen to a word of it."

"Then I have so many other friends, such as Sister Sympathy, Girlie Generosity and Brother Bravery."

"One of my best friends is Uncle Unselfishness. Then there is Uncle Nature and Susy Smiles. They're the dearest little pals."

"I try to introduce them when I go about. I try to tell that they're close, close friends of mine."

"I also want to explain that I'm not so hard to know. Any one can become a real friend of mine, and the secret isn't hard to learn. I will tell them as they sleep that I am about with my friends whenever they want me, and even though they cannot actually see me they can feel that I'm around."

"But sometimes I'm shoved away so far that I almost get lost. Yes, Key To Happiness almost gets lost when people pay no attention to him and act as though he were some one much too unusual to know."

"But I'll never really get lost—oh no, only sometimes shoved back a bit, but now I am going off with you, Dreamland King. Yes, I am ready to part now."

The garden still is green
And green the trees around,
But the winds are roaring overhead
And branches strew the ground.

And today on the garden pool
Floated an autumn leaf;
How rush the seasons, rush the years,
And, oh, how life is brief!

WHAT TO HAVE FOR DESSERT

The word dessert does not apply to the dish but the taking away of the unnecessary food and table equipment, preparing for the final course. This stresses the importance of the setting which should be given the last dish of the most commonly called dessert. The dignity and attractiveness of the dish is enhanced by the manner in which it is arranged for and introduced. Everything from previous courses should be removed, leaving the whole stage to the dessert. This is the reason time and skill is put upon a dish which will both appeal to the eye as well as the palate.

The housewife who does without a maid, can, with the aid of a tea wagon, clear the table quickly and easily.

Dessert-making is, in many dishes, artistic fancywork. The beauty of such creations is that one has a great field for original work. While few combinations of ingredients are difficult to find, there are always appearing new ways of serving and garnishing the old favorites.

When preparing a Bavarian cream, line the mold with slices of jelly or chocolate roll, then pour in the cream. When cold unmold and decorate the top with spoonfuls of the filling in the roll. This makes a dessert that is more substantial than the usual molded cream.

Pumpkin Pie de Luxe.—Prepare the pumpkin pie as usual; the following is a good recipe: Take one cupful of finely-sifted, well-cooked sweet pumpkin, add two cupfuls of rich milk, two eggs, one-quarter to a third of a cupful of sugar, according to the taste and depending upon the sweetness of the pumpkin; a little salt, ginger and a few drops of lemon extract. Bake in a slow oven in a rich pastry shell. When ready to serve top with whipped cream, lightly sweetened and serve with grated cheese either sprinkled over the cream or passed with the dessert.

Gold as Medium of Exchange.

Gold as a commodity has been used as a medium of exchange from time immemorial. Its value for this purpose is due to a unique group of properties. It is malleable, ductile, non-corrosive, durable, easily divisible and its identity is perfect. The supply is limited, the demand for it is steady and its bulk is small in proportion to its value. It is easily transported and easily guarded.

A FULL EVENING FOR SUPERVISORS

Filling Begun at Hurley Turkey Dinner—District Attorney's Report Received, Resolutions Offered or Adopted in Time for Basketball Game.

It was 8:45 o'clock Wednesday evening when the county legislature began its regular session, the delay in starting being caused by a number of members who were delayed because of doing justice to the good things served them at the turkey dinner which they had attended at the Hurley Reformed Church with about three hundred other men and women.

Chairman Fratscher and Clerk DeWitt made the session snappy by quick transaction of the business before the house and a number of the supervisors hustled, after the meeting adjourned, to the armory to see the basketball game.

Supervisor Auchmoedy—That there be levied upon the town of Rosendale $800 to pay highway bond and interest.

Supervisor Williams—That there be levied upon town of Lloyd $1,000 for Highland Public Library.

Supervisor Scott—That there be levied upon town of Shawangunk $100 for the Walkill Public Park; also $500 to be credited to the general fund for general expenses.

Supervisor Fred Davis—That there be levied upon the town of Marlborough $310.41 to pay bonds issued for highway purposes due in 1923.

The resolutions and reports introduced at Tuesday evening's session calling for levies of various amounts on towns or county were called up and adopted.

On motion of Supervisor J. Charles Snyder the board of supervisors adjourned until Thursday evening, November 23, at 7:30 o'clock.

GIRL SAILOR QUITS THE SEA

Nineteen-Year-Old Lass Spent Sixteen Years of Her Life on the Ocean.

SAILS WITH FATHER

Helan Lowell Had Many Adventures
When, Carbed as a Boy, She Sailed Before the Mast—Now at Home With Mother.

Los Angeles.—Sixteen years out of her nineteen, Helan Lowell, now of this city, passed on board a sailing vessel. Her address was simply the Minnie E. Cain, plying between Puget Sound, Wash., and Australia and the South Sea Islands. For 16 years Helan never knew a white woman. For the greater part of that time she was utterly unconscious of her sex.

Helan Joan was the youngest of eight children. Her father, captain of the Minnie E. Cain, met with reverses just before Helan's birth that left his family in a precarious financial situation. When three months old, Helan was carried on board the Minnie E. Cain in a blanket, the sails were set, and the vessel drifted off on the journey that was to last for 16 years so far as Helan was concerned.

Taught by Father.

The boat carried lumber and cotton stuffs, and the only fresh food in the hold consisted of potatoes and onions. So the captain fed his baby daughter powdered milk. Helan grew and developed into a charming young girl. Her father taught her to swim, also he was her teacher in Latin, navigation, and many other subjects which are not usually taken up by the average young girl.

"Every question of philosophy, physics, and morality which presents itself to a growing girl was answered by my father by a reference to a book and verse from the Bible," Helan said. Her father gave her no toys, no pretty dresses. He was rigidly unrelenting about "feminine fables."

Dressed as a Boy.

Helan wore a rough shirt and overalls, never had a pair of shoes, and her curls blew free to the wind. She leaped about the decks of her father's vessel and dove into the waves. She was never molested by any of the rough polyglot crew, who stood in great awe of the captain. When the Minnie E. Cain landed in port there was no place for Helan to go but to the haunts of the seafarers along the wharves. So for safety her father never permitted her to go on shore.

It is only since she has been living in Los Angeles with Mrs. Lowell for the last few months, that Helan has come to know the glory of having a mother. And while the adventure of her early life is thrilling, and she has trouble sometimes in adjusting herself to feminine attire and the conventions of which she has never heard, yet the joy of the companionship with her mother makes up for all the adventures which she has now relished.

Child Fatally Gored by Large Bear.
Bradford, Ill.—The twenty-three-month-old son of Everett Foster was fatally gored by a large bear on his father's farm when he and several other small children wandered into the bog pen. Mrs. Foster drove the hog away but not until the child had received fatal injuries. She was slain by the baby's screams.

Wrinkle Operation Kills Woman, 55.
Marshalltown, Ia.—As a result of an operation designed to remove wrinkles from her face, Mrs. Anna Coppock, fifty-five years old, died of lockjaw.

Purpose.

He is a weak man who cannot twist and weave the threads of his feeling—however fine, however tangled, however strained, or however strong—into the great cable of purpose, by which he lies moored to his life of action.

CURRENT OFFERINGS

AT THE THEATERS.

Max Murray in the most elaborate of productions, "Peacock Alley" is at Keeney's tonight, Friday and Saturday. The story is by Ouida Bergere and is the tale of a Parisian dancer who falls in love with a small town American youth and finds her husband's people scandalized when she goes back to his home, resulting in the couple seeking their fortunes in New York. The New York Herald says: "Lavishly as well as painstakingly screened, Miss Murray does the best acting of her career." Owing to the enormous expense of this production the prices have been advanced. A special selected musical score has been arranged and an augmented symphony orchestra to portray the musical accompaniment.

Hailed as a hurricane of melodramatic action, the showing of "Reported Missing" at the Kingston Opera House tonight, Friday and Saturday, is eagerly anticipated by picture fans who like their pictures full of thrills, romance and laughter. Owen Moore is starred in this production which deals with the attempt of a far eastern capitalist to obtain possession of a huge fleet of ships owned by an American shipping company. Buster Keaton in a comedy of laughs, "The High Sign," is also programmed.

"Gleam O'Dawn" starring John Gilbert, an action story of the Canadian northwest and Ruth Roland in "The Timber Queen," make up the attraction at the Auditorium tonight. Friday, double feature day, offers Frank Keenan in "The Silver Girl," also Bessie Barriscale in "The Broken Gate."

There will be an entire new vaudeville program at the Orpheum Theatre tonight. The picture for Thursday and Friday is Wallace Reid's latest Paramount picture, "The Ghost Breaker," which is said to be one of the most thrilling screen offerings in which that popular star has been seen in many months. Lila Lee and Walter Hiers are featured with the star.

Carlson is a well man today, serum was injected into the face of Carlson postponed calling a

CITY HOSPITAL NURSES GRADUATE

Five Awarded Diplomas By Judge
Bettis—Address By Judge Fowler —Training School Annual Report.

Wednesday evening marked the completion of their course of training for five young women who then graduated from the City of Kingston Hospital Training School for Nurses.
With graduation exercises at the Knights of Columbus Hall. The program for the evening opened with music as the staff members of the hospital, Miss Smith, the superintendent nurse and graduates took their places on the most attractively decorated stage. The graduates were Octavia Parris, Dolores Boyle, Helen Wight, Gertrude Bradley and Mabel Hess.

The invocation was by the Rev.
Lucas Boove, pastor of the First Reformed Dutch Church.

Then followed the annual report of the Training School as given by Miss Edna Smith, who said:

The Training School of the Kingston City Hospital tonight rounds out a very successful year and looks forward to one of even greater activity. We have maintained our standards and have if anything been more exacting in our class work and in watching the individual progress of each student.

The young women now making application for admittance to our school are of a most excellent type, those having the high standard that we have been fortunate enough to maintain throughout the life of this training school.

It is well to note that ours was the third or perhaps fourth training school for nurses to be established in the state of New York, and we point to this with pride.

With the large addition to the hospital now under construction, our work will be increased and more student nurses will be necessary as a natural sequence.

We therefore wish to call attention to the great need of a large, well-equipped, modern home for our students. Just as our hospital work has outgrown our original buildings, so our training school has already outgrown the additional quarters purchased last year.

The building erected by Mrs. S. D.
Coykendall could be enlarged, adequate room for recreation should be provided, and small separate rooms in sufficient number to house our nurses comfortably under one roof, this is our aim and wish.

In going about the state to look over other small institutions as I have done, I find that the public in other cities has been liberal in providing nurses homes. It is to be hoped that some of our friends will see fit to aid us in perfecting our institution in this respect.

Any money given to this hospital always shows up in actual improvement for the reason that we have been fortunate in not running behind financially. In many hospitals of this state citizens have had to come forward to make up deficits, and often money given for equipment or improvement has been used for maintenance. We pay for maintaining expenses.

We do not wish to be looked upon as beggars, but it must be remembered that as the hospital grows, our opportunity for service to the people of Kingston becomes greater.

We therefore hope, and almost expect that within a short time the housing problem of our training school will be met so that we can keep pace with the fast-growing hospital of which we are a part.

Following another musical number by the orchestra, Judge Joseph M.
Fowler gave the address of the evening in which he approached the subject of nursing, not from the viewpoint of the physician or the nurse but that of the patient. He told the graduates that he well remembered his own college graduation, and that when the class were told of the man who was to speak to them they all agreed that they did not care so much about that but what they wanted most were those precious sheepskins. And so remembering, he would get to the delivery of the sheepskins as soon as possible. Then looking over the long list of Kingston City Hospital graduate nurses as found on the program, Judge Fowler said that he found three or four names that were especially interesting to him as they had served in time of sickness, either some member of his family or himself, greatly to the comfort and entire satisfaction of all. They would always be held in warmest regard by the Fowler family. One name, however, he missed that of Miss Green, a former assistant superintendent of the hospital who would always be included in that warm regard. That the Kingston City Hospital had a warm place in the hearts of the people of the entire community was a certain fact, and with that heart interest went confidence in the nurses graduating from the institution Judge Fowler therefore counted it a peculiar honor to the graduates that they were graduating from an institution which would not send them out into the world for service were they not indeed worthy to play their part. In closing Judge Fowler said that were he or his family in need of future nursing service he would try and would hope to succeed in securing a nurse from the class of 1923 of the Training School for Nurses of the Kingston City Hospital.

The diplomas were awarded by the Hon. James A. Bettis who said:

Young Ladies of the Graduating Class:

So far as the City of Kingston Hospital is concerned and so far as the instruction which has been so willingly given you at that institution, you have come to the end of the road.
The superintendent and the instructors at the hospital have given to you freely of their time and of their knowledge to equip you to go forth into the homes of our citizens well fitted to administer the healing infusions and to nurse back to health and strength those requiring your aid.

You have had the benefit of seeing nearly all kinds of operations, major or slight, that our skilled surgeons are constantly exercising for the relief of those injured and sick persons brought to our hospital. Our physicians lecture to you and freely give to you any and all information that they can that will assist you in caring for the life and health of others.

You have adopted the life of a nurse as your calling. You devoted much patient toil and many anxious hours for the relief of those who have been placed in your care. Your standing at our hospital has been high and we consider you well qualified to receive your diplomas and enter upon your life work.

Remember that in whatever sick room you go, you carry the reputation of the City of Kingston Hospital with you. We have done our best for you and to you and we know that you will be an honor to our institution.

You have been very fortunate tonight in listening to two learned addresses which cannot but be helpful to you.

We congratulate you highly, collectively and singly, upon the good work that you have done and are capable of doing and by the direction of the board of managers, I will now give you the diplomas which you have so well earned.

Before the pronouncing of the benefaction by the Very Rev. J. J.
Hickey, Judge Bettis asked him to say a few words to both the graduates and their friends. Father Hickey in his usual felicitous manner congratulated the graduates and then paid his compliments to the ladies of the Hospital Auxiliary for their loyal support and their annual kindness in so materially making the nurses' graduation such delightful affairs. A reception to the nurses followed the benediction.

The ladies of the auxiliary as usual had arranged the details of the reception and the pretty hall was most attractively decorated with palms and ferns and exceedingly artistic crepe paper decorations in fringe effect. The later part of the decoration was generously donated by the Daughters of Isabella who had them for one of their social functions.

Mrs. John Schoonmaker and Mrs. George Burgevin presided at the beautifully appointed tea table, the ladies of the auxiliary serving the guests with ice cream delicious home made cake and coffee.

Later in the evening delightful music by the orchestra was enjoyed by those who danced.

TROY LOSES TO KINGSTON

In Rough Contest—Local Representatives Win Eighth Straight Game—Morgenweck Plays Important Part in Victory Before 1,600 Fans.

The victory for Kingston over Troy Wednesday evening was earned after forty minutes of hard playing. The game was fast and rough throughout, the kind that has the fans full of fight. Kingston's proficient pass work was again the salient feature in its 35 to 24 win. Without the services of Artie Powers, the locals faced their closest opponents and defeated them through the skillful piloting of Manager Morgenweck. The largest crowd of the season was in attendance, there being over 1,600 paid admissions.

Borgman was once more the leading point getter having fifteen points to his credit. His eye from the penalty line was very poor, he caging but three out of ten chances. Knoblauch was Kingston's next best scorer having nine points registered in his column. C. Husta played the other forward position. Artus and C. Powers started in the guard positions. The Troy team was a lively tribe and Artus and Charlie were kept busy. Artus's wonderful defense was again noticeable. Charlie Powers's work as per usual was also outstanding. Charlie has played and played well in all the positions on the court so far this year. M. Husta replaced Borgman for the last two minutes of play.

To say that the Troy team was on their toes every minute is putting it mild. Boyle, who has been hitting high records upstate, was the losers' big scorer, having eleven points chalked up for himself. Jerry Sullivan was next best in order with eight points. Jerry had a busy evening playing Borgman. Lopechik had a slight edge on Knoblauch in getting the tap but the latter kept him in cold storage, while he gathered in his best total of the season for an evening's performance.

Manager Frank Morgenweck played an important part in the struggle Wednesday evening. After eight and a half minutes were played in the closing period the score stood 17 all. Kingston called time and Morgenweck made a switch. Knoblauch and Powers changing places. The score proves how effective this bit of strategy was.

Referee Meehan kept his mouth organ very busy, calling 25 fouls on Troy and 21 on Kingston. Out of their number of free throws the locals buried 13 and the upstaters made good 10.

Opening Session.

Borgman started the scoring with one from the court and he was quickly followed by Charlie Powers with one from the playground. Artus was the next to perform, making good two from the complimentary line and putting the home club in a 6 point lead. Boyle scored first for the Collar City aggregation, caging a pretty one from the floor at long range. In this period the locals held their six point advantage and each team caged a basket every now and then. Before the first half ended twenty minutes of real work was witnessed. Pop shots were in order during this period and few were made good. The half ended with the local quintet in front of a 16 to 7 tally.

Closing Period.

War was declared during the night session with the upstaters taking the initiative. The first four minutes the upstaters scored eight points while Kingston was serenely looking on. Boyle caged two more pretty field goals and a foul and Jerry Sullivan made good one from the floor and a foul. The locals were still in the lead by one point, score 16 to 15. Borgman broke the ice. After losing a hard field basket he was allowed to shoot from the chalk line and he made good. But he was suddenly followed by Boyle and Brennan who each made good from the fifteen foot line, putting the teams on an even basis 17 each. Right here is where Manager Morgenweck comes to the fore, seeing that the cause for the slump was in the center position he changes Powers and Knoblauch. Charlie Powers, although not near as high up in the world as the elongated Troy man, got the tap, the old reliable Artus passing it to Knoblauch, who sunk the pill. This brought a great cheer for the fans who had already realized Manager Morgenweck's adeptness. From this point on, with at least a few exceptions, the center position the old machine was again in working condition and the deluge of baskets began. During these eleven and a half minutes the local squad caged eighteen points, while the Collar City men made good but seven. The score ended with Kingston 35 to Troy's 24.

Before the game ended Jerry Sullivan handed Knoblauch a bang on the ribs and Knoblauch got peeved and retaliated with a right hook to the head. After they were separated the storm subsided, no one was hurt and a good time was had by all. It was at this time that Borgman took to the showers and Mike Husta entered the arena. A large number remained and enjoyed the dancing to the strains of Balfe's orchestra.

On Friday evening of this week Kingston again plays Troy, this time on foreign soil. Two games are scheduled for the home court for next week. Cohoes comes here Wednesday and on Thursday evening, Thanksgiving the Troy club will again be the attraction.

KINGSTON OFFER TO BE ACCEPTED?

The Newburgh News Says:

Favorable consideration is to be given by the Armory Athletic Committee of Fifteen of Newburgh to a proposition of Frank Morgenweck, manager of the Kingston State League basketball team to bring his players here. This was decided at a meeting of the committee held in the armory on Tuesday evening, when two propositions were considered.

The committee had to choose between a proposition made by a local group, the DeMott All Stars, and the one by Mr. Morgenweck. The Kingston man offered at attractive terms to bring the Kingston to Newburgh once a week to play strong professional fives. The team he would use would be composed of the regulars, who in the State League have yet to taste defeat. Professional basketball by this plan would be placed on a basis never attempted in this city in the last few years.
